

The model below is our Wiring Diagram. It connects — through a constant process — what are often disparate elements in today’s organization. Much of this will not be new. The linkages and holistic view, however, are new.

